I agree to advertise in the 2011 Tucson MetaGuide magazine. All advertisements for the MetaGuide Magazines are accepted and published by Heaven & Earth Publishing LLC with the understanding that the advertiser and/or agency assume all responsibility for the content. The advertiser and/or agency assumes responsibility and liability for any and all claims that may arise as a result of advertisements printed and hold Heaven and Earth Publishing LLC harmless from and against any loss, expense, or other liability resulting from any claims or suits that may arise out of publication of such advertisement. Any cancellation received less than ten days before the art is due is non-refundable, and the advertiser and/or agency is responsible for the full price of the ad. Heaven and Earth Publishing reserves the right to refuse advertising for any reason. Publisher shall not be liable for any delay or failure to print, publish, distribute or deliver any or all portion of any issue in which advertising accepted by Publisher is contained if such failure is due to acts of God/Goddess, strikes, accidents or other circumstances beyond the Publisher's control. Liability for errors or omissions due to negligence or any other cause is limited to providing space of equivalent cost in a subsequent issue. The ad rates contained in this flyer replace any previously published rates and are subject to change without notice. Signing this agreement and placement of advertising constitutes acceptance of these terms.
