

The Azeztulite Letters

Greetings Readers,

Instead of a new article about Azeztulite from my perspective, I thought you might enjoy and benefit from seeing a sampling of letters that people have sent regarding their experiences with Azeztulite. Their words say a lot about what really happens with these sacred stones.

I am still collecting Azeztulite stories (and stories about people's experiences with Moldavite and other stones) so please feel encouraged to write me at heavenandearth@earthlink.net.

Now, on with the Azeztulite Letters!

Many blessings,
Robert Simmons

Hello,

This is just a note to say very many thanks for sending the samples of Azeztulite and Rosophia which I received with thanks the other day. I went to bed last night to meditate with the Azeztulite to see what I could feel.

Wow!! It was quite something, very powerful energy, immediately tingly in my hands and up my arms. Building to a point where it totally encompassed me in a floaty sensation around my whole body and very active at my crown. I woke up a couple of hours later realizing that I had fallen asleep with it in my hands and I remember having quite vivid dreams, but to my frustration I can't remember them LOL.

Anyway, this is a note of gratitude to you for sending out samples of this amazing crystal. I have yet to sit and experience the Rosophia but I'm looking forward to it. I am a Reiki Master and Crystal therapist practicing in the UK, and I'm looking forward to seeing how best to incorporate these stones into my healing practice. I have your book and have only just made the connection that it's you, having read the section on Azeztulite. Thank you again.

Very best wishes
—Paula

Dear Mr. Simmons,

You were SO incredibly generous and thoughtful to send to me the gift of the SPECTACULAR Azozeo Azeztulite! Oh My Goodness! WOW on top of WOW!!! It certainly was not necessary but I do thank you with all of my heart for the exquisite gift. My birthday is on the 21st so what amazing timing!!!

Especially given the size of the crystal, it is TRULY the most powerful crystal I have ever held EVER. Immediately upon holding and meditating with it, the Azozeo Azeztulite began a really fast track of moving my consciousness up and up and up and OUT, ever unfolding outward into more and higher multi-dimensions with Divine Beings greeting me at each new dimension, and on and on it went! Simply inexpressibly Magnificent and unlike anything else I have ever experienced!!! BRAVO!

Once again, thank you with all my heart for who you are and all you are doing to uplift and heal humanity and all of creation.

Infinite Love, Light and Blessings in abundance, always,
—Sophia

Dear Robert and Kathy,

I feel compelled to write you and tell my little story.

Many years ago now, probably the late 80's early 90's, I had what I will call a very brief "vision". In the vision I saw two pairs of sandaled feet walking along. It was as if I was looking down as they walked along. It felt like master talking to student but I cannot be sure of that. I heard a name that I have always spelled Azsus. I have no idea how the name should have been spelled. I also had no idea what that meant and have never been able to find any reference to it anywhere, but I have always wondered about the experience and keep the name in the back of my mind.

Fast forward to the present—I came across your book, Stones of the New Consciousness. Actually someone else was purchasing it and I had asked them if they minded if I looked at it since it was the only copy available. A friend of mine noticed my interest and began telling me about your website and catalog. They offered to bring in a catalog supplement they had for me to look at. As I opened the first page I was struck by the Azeztulite and the Azez—the name being so similar to the name I have carried with me all these years. The synchronicity was too much. I had to order an Azeztulite.

It arrived today and although I don't feel I am a person who connects strongly with stones—some

I can feel, most not—this stone sent out immediate powerful vibrations (as you said it would of course). I am very pleased to have ordered it.

I still am not sure why I feel compelled to tell you this story—maybe I just needed to share the experience, but thank you for listening. I would call myself a pretty grounded person and not prone to visions or flights of fancy. I do however have strong spiritual beliefs in many things that others poo-poo. Many thanks for making this wonderful stone available.

Blessings,
—Paula

Hi Robert,

My name is MaryAnne. We met at your show in Denver. I'm an acupuncturist. It was great meeting you! I bought your new book there—it's great fun to read. I love how you describe your experiments and your pictures of treatments for people—wow—I'd love to sit in the middle of so many stones! I can see how tame my own work is.

I bought some azeztulite. One piece is a heart shaped piece. I wore it for a week. It's an amazing stone. I have had very strong experiences with the stone and I love it. It's beautiful. I realize I can't wear it all the time. What I think is happening is, I think I have a lot of heat in my chest, and it creates a lot of heat, which I can feel in my pulse. I have such a strong effect with it. I'm thinking maybe the chemistry of my working with it and the stones is cracking it—does that make any sense to you?

I wear a piece of Nuummite with it, which grounds it somewhat. I think your intuition to use it with Rosophia is right on. The Rosophia is nourishing to the heart blood. That's what it feels like. I also noticed, I think you were wearing a piece of purple jade which is beautiful and is cooling to the body. I have a jade necklace. I'll see if wearing the two together cools off the experience.

I do love the Azeztulite stone. Thank you for your great work. It's very exciting.

Blessings,
—MaryAnne

Dear Friends,

I am just so overjoyed to get my Azeztulite. I have been in a state of sweet joy since last Friday. You see, I wanted the stone after reading the last few pages in your Book of Stones.

When I saw the prices online, I quickly picked up the phone to see if you had a few chips on the floor that you could sell me. So, I called, and the gentleman I spoke told me you had a special on Azeztulite (which I did not see). HMMMM.

I have been so excited at the synchronicities that have alighted my life. Pure amazing things are falling into place. For instance, a virtual stranger GAVE me a Moldavite pendant last year. So, I went to buy a book about crystals so I could read about Moldavite, (which happened to be YOUR Book of Stones). Wild! I WAS not so inclined to use crystals before last year. It was the Moldavite that really spoke to me. I have had many people hold it and have headaches, tinnitis, nausea and other extreme reactions. But, to me it was a good friend.

I am using my Azeztulite with my Moldavite together and I feel strong. I feel very strongly that the stones found me. How amazing and fortunate I am! I am looking for a softening stone or the mixture of the Phenacite, Danburite and some others to go with the Moldavite and Azez. I have always had the feeling I am here for the Light. I have big healing energy and am here to tell all about it.

Thank you, I feel like you are my friends even though we haven't yet met.

Thank you Truly,
—Heidy

Dear Robert Simmons,

I live in Port Elizabeth, South Africa. A few weeks ago my son-in-law, 29 years old, was diagnosed with a malignant tumor in his chest. He has had some very religious upbringing and does not believe in alternative healing methods, although my daughter, Tanya, was raised on them.

The young people have been very brave and upbeat and I have been using Reiki and other healing methods. One method which was suggested to me was to use various plant extracts and make a decoction, imagine him the size of a small doll, and to bathe his aura with this decoction, using cotton wool which is then burnt in the fire at the earths core.

I took this one step further, working with Arch Angel Michael and in a Fifth Dimensional Pyramid of Light, I placed the imagined image of my tiny son on the crystal table which is set over the Violet

Flame and under the huge capstone crystal and was bathing his aura, finding a sticky black substance coming out of his body where the tumor is situated and then placing the used cotton wool in the Violet Flame to have it transmuted into Love/Light which again bathes his aura.

A few days ago, a friend was unpacking and labelling some of his stones and one of these was Azeztulite. We looked it up in a gem book and I found it was also used for cancer and various healings. I held it in my hand and proceeded to use my healing sequence, while holding the tiny crystal, not more than 1/4" in diameter.

I received the most amazing blast of energy which travelled right up my spinal column and nearly took off the top of my head! It brought tears to my eyes and was truly amazing. The most powerful healing sequence I had yet performed.

I wanted to find out more about the crystal and went to my computer to Google it. The first site I clicked on was your site and there was all the information! Wow. We really are directed and given information when the time is right!

I thought you would be interested in knowing about my experience. We do not yet have a complete prognosis as to what type of cancer my son has, but I am doing a daily healing sequence, using the Azeztulite and have now also, mentally, made a crystal essence of the stone and added it to my healing decoction.

With thanks, love, light and peace

Dear Robert,

Last year in September I had a vision on Glastonbury Tor in the UK and about two months later—after being suddenly very seriously ill—just after the solstice I started a series of daily spiritual writings, which I began posting on my blog. The reason why I am writing to you is that after reading your latest Newsletter, I have just realized that maybe these writings are linked to the Azez and Azeztulite.

First, in May—maybe June last year—two or three months before the vision and getting ill and about four or five months before the writing began, I bought a piece of clear white Azeztulite that came from North Carolina. I knew nothing about it at the time and simply started wearing it. The funny thing is that I had the name of the stone in my head suddenly and had never heard of it before, then found it at a crystal fair.

Secondly, when I was ill, I felt like my body became a liquid—similar to what you describe as the Liquid Crystal Body Matrix in your piece. At the time the process was really, very painful, and it felt like my nervous system somehow opened or activated as I was constantly hot, as if I was being cooked from the inside out. The sensation for about seventy-two hours was like it was raining pins and needles through my energy. Afterwards I felt as though my entire vibration had changed and become much, much higher ...

Thirdly, your piece on the Grandmother Phenacite mentions the intention behind the Azozeo-Activated stones as being the transformation of earth to a Planet of Light. Well, just look at my blog post today. (It says virtually the same thing).

Fourthly, about two weeks ago, magically, someone gave me a stone which nobody knew what it was. A week ago they got in touch and told me it was a piece of Satyaloka Azeztulite, which I am wearing now. The heat sensations have returned (but they are not uncomfortable this time thankfully!) and my writings have begun to mention, more and more, enlightenment and how the whole vibrational frequency of Earth is being converted to love.

Fifthly, in February this year I was given the name of that overall love energy. It is a Light frequency linked to the sun known as "Anuunc." I was told it means ... "without a name." The correspondence with the "Nameless Light" of the Azez is rather compelling as I am sure you will agree.

Many thanks and very excitedly,
—Jacquie ♦
